Problem

In 2010 the West County Center was having blockages and odor problems in their grease trap and throughout their main drain lines. Hydrojetting was done quarterly as routine maintenance costing over $3,000 a year. Video footage was taken that showed grease and organic buildup throughout the line.

Ecoflow Solution

Chemsearch FE added a BIO-Amp™ leading into the facility main line from the food court that led directly to the grease traps.

Result

After 90 days, the line was videoed again and there was a significant improvement. Before and after photos (above) showed just how clean the line had become.

Since the installation, the West County Center has added 2 more BIO-Amp units for restaurants within the facility. The solution has eliminated their hydrojetting, saving them over $4000 a year.
